

Enjoying your Ollio Macarons

How to store and consume your Macarons

What is the best temperature to consume macarons at?

Macarons are best enjoyed at indoor room temperature. They should be stored either in the refrigerator or freezer when you take them home.

How long should I wait before enjoying the macarons?

If you stored the macarons in the refrigerator, let them sit at room temperature for about 10-15 minutes before consuming them. If you stored the macarons in the freezer, give them about 30 minutes to reach room temperature.

How do I refrigerate or freeze the macarons?

We strongly recommend that you store the macarons in the original packaging in the refrigerator or freezer. If you are storing them in the freezer, please wrap the original packaging with plastic wrap to keep moisture and air from getting to the macarons.

How long will the macarons last in the refrigerator or freezer?

If you store them in the original packaging covered in plastic wrap, the macarons can stay in the freezer for about 2 months. If you store them in the refrigerator, they should be consumed within 1 week.
